

PARENT TIME

Most of us believe life in general just works better when everyone is treating each other kindly. When our kids learn empathy for others, it can have an impact on how they treat them.

So, help your kids learn to start thinking about the feelings of others. Ask questions like, how would that make you feel, or how do you think that made him feel?

Being kind and raising kind people is a really good goal to have as a parent, because kind people have better relationships, and they ultimately live a healthier, happier, more successful life.

MORNING TIME

Write this on your child's mirror or in their lunchbox for them to see first thing! "God will love us forever, just like my love for you."

MEAL TIME

Ask a kid: What is the most valuable thing you own? How do you treat it?

Ask a parent: What is the kindest thing anyone has ever done for you?

DRIVE TIME

Share the kindness! Have each person in the car take turns talking about how another person in the car showed them kindness that week or month. Expand even further and talk about what your kid might have seen someone at school do that showed kindness to another person. Encourage one another to spread kindness wherever they are!

BED TIME

What is something kind you did for someone in your family or a friend? Was it easy or difficult? We all know that we should be kind to the people we're close to, but that can sometimes be hard to do! Think about Ruth. When things got tough she chose to treat Naomi with kindness. Pray that instead of getting frustrated with your family or friends, you will all choose kindness.
